Board members, staff and the water community:

You are invited to attend the South Central NM Leadership Institute to strengthen readiness, planning and resiliency for your water utilities and for you as a leader! Join us in a series of workshops developed to assist you meet the challenges water leaders face with community engagement, funding and workforce.

This is a monthly opportunity for local leaders solving local issues.

A participation stipend will be provided at the end of the series for attendance in all sessions.

Topics include:

- Collaboration for rural water systems
- Addressing workforce challenges
- Emergency preparedness

Please have one operator per system attend. These classes are designed for a mix of participants including operators, board members, public and private utility staff and community members. This is a series of workshops with cumulative lessons and activities, so we ask that you commit to attending all sessions.
